Future of Digital Banking

Christina Churchill, National Financial Institutions Leader, and John P. Behringer, CPA, Partner, National Financial Institutions Consulting Leader and Great Lakes Financial Institutions Practice Leader, RSM US LLP

Prior to the COVID-19 pandemic many financial institutions in the United States were beginning to adapt their business model to embrace the digital channel. Now the pandemic has brought to the forefront the need for every business, in particular banks, to have an effective digital strategy to be successful in a post-pandemic world. This presentation discusses how the pandemic has fundamentally changed consumer behaviors and how banks of all sizes can respond to these changes through the development and adoption of a digital strategy. This informative, fast-moving discussion will deepen your understanding of the digital landscape and its impact on financial institutions.

Small Banks Open to Big Opportunity: How Open Banking is Leveling the Technology Playing Field

Cindy Bladow, Regional Managing Director, Sales, Finastra

It used to be that only the “big banks” could afford the biggest and newest technology, but that has changed with the evolution of open banking. When it comes to technology, community banks cannot afford to be pulled along on the technology train: they need to be at the front of the line. Discover why open banking is vital for the small and mid-sized bank to grow, transform, and compete; learn how to overcome the hurdles on your path to open banking; uncover the reason your customers are driving the need for change; and gain insights on how your bank can become an innovator without “breaking the bank.”

Innovators' Showcase*

See creative concepts and find new partners that can help move your business forward. Twenty companies demonstrate their latest solutions in rapid-fire, back-to-back eight-minute demos. Find the approaches that align with your strategic priorities, then visit them in the Innovators' Marketplace during breaks and lunch.

Banking-as-a-Service (BaaS): Expand Your Bank's BaaS Platform and Grow Your Bank Safely and Soundly

Stan Orszula and Brent McCauley, Partners, Barack Ferrazzano Financial Institutions Group

A strong Banking-as-a-Service (“BaaS”) program allows banks to grow. However, fintech bank regulator experience varies and regulatory requirements and expectations are evolving. Learn how to develop, maintain and grow your BaaS platform, integrate the regulatory and legal framework into agreements with fintechs, and work with the bank's regulators to ensure a functional, compliant BaaS platform. The presentation also shares five key considerations to make your BaaS platform successful.

Innovators' Showcase continues

The Digitization of Banking: What Fintech and Big-Tech Mean for the Competitive Landscape

Robert Morgan, Senior Vice President, Innovation and Strategy, American Bankers Association

Technology has fundamentally changed how people engage with brands, and banking is no different. Banking has always been a relationship business, and, as customer interactions increasingly become digital, banks will need to maintain and deepen these relationships. At the same time, fintech companies and, more recently, diversified large technology companies are offering financial services directly to customers. This session looks at how technology is changing the competitive landscape in banking and how banks can leverage it to deepen relationships with customers.
